DISTRICT COURT.

Case of Swartwout and Bollman.

MONDAY, January 26.

The following are the depositions made in open court, and alluded to in yesterday's paper.

THE DEPOSITION OF WILLIAM EATON, ESQ.

Early last winter, colonel Aaron Burr, late vice president of the United States, signified to me, at this place, that, under the authority of the general government, he was organizing a secret expedition against the Spanish provinces on our south western borders; which expedition he was to lead, and in which he was authorised to invite me to take the command of a division. I had never before been made personally acquainted with colonel Burr; and having for many years been employed in foreign service, I knew but little about the estimation this gentleman held in the opinion of his countrymen and his government: the rank and confidence by which he had so lately been distinguished left me no right to suspect his patriotism. I knew him a soldier. In case of a war with the Spanish nation, which from the tenor of the president's message to both houses of congress seemed probable, I should have tho't it my duty to obey so honorable a call of my country; and, under this impression I did engage to embark in the expedition. I had frequent interviews with col. Burr in this city—and, for a considerable time, his object seemed to be to instruct me by maps, and other information, the feasibility of penetrating to Mexico—always carrying forward the idea that the measure was authorised by government. At length some time in February, he began by degrees to unveil himself—he reproached the government with want of character, want of gratitude and want of justice. He seemed desirous of irritating resentment in my breast by dilating on certain injuries he felt I had suffered from reflections made on the floor of the house of representatives concerning my operations in Barbary, and from the delays of government in adjusting my claims for disbursements on that coast during my consular agency at Tunis; and he said he would point me to an honorable mode of indemnity. I now began to entertain a suspicion that Mr. Burr was projecting an unauthorised military expedition; which, to me, was enveloped in mystery; and, desirous to draw an explanation from him, I suffered him to suppose me resigned to his counsel. He now laid open his project of revolutionising the western country, separating it from the union, establishing a monarchy there, of which he was to be the sovereign, New Orleans to be his capital; organising a force on the waters of the Mississippi, and extending conquest to Mexico. I suggested a number of impediments to his scheme—such as the republican habits of the citizens of that country, and their affection towards the present administration of government; the want of funds; the resistance he would meet from the regular army of the United States on those frontiers; and the opposition of Miranda in case he should succeed to republicanise the Mexicans

Mr. Burr found no difficulty in removing these obstacles—he said he had, the preceding season, made a tour through that country, and had secured the attachment of the principal citizens of Kentucky, Tennessee and Louisiana to his person and his measures—declared he had inexhaustible resources to funds; assured me the regular army would act with him, and would be reinforced by ten or twelve thousand men from the above mentioned states and territory, and from other parts of the union; said he had powerful agents in the Spanish territory—and, as for Miranda, said Mr. Burr, we must hang Miranda. He now proposed to give me the second command in his army. I asked him who should have the chief command? He said general Wilkinson. I observed it was singular that he should count on general Wilkinson: the elevated rank and high trust he now held as commander in chief of our army and governor of a province, he would hardly put at hazard for any precarious prospects of aggrandizement. Mr. Burr said, general Wilkinson balanced in the confidence of government, was doubtful of retaining much longer the consideration he now enjoyed, and was consequently prepared to secure to himself a permanency. I asked Mr. Burr, if he knew general Wilkinson? He answered yes: and echoed the question. I said I knew him well. "What do you know of him?" said Mr. Burr. I know, I replied, that general Wilkinson will act as lieutenant to no man in existence. "You are in error," said Mr. Burr, "Wilkinson will act as lieutenant to me." From the tenor of repeated conversations with Mr. Burr, I was induced to believe the plan of separating the union which he had contemplated had been communicated to and approved of by general Wilkinson (though I now suspect it an artful argument of seduction) and he often expressed a full confidence that the general's influence; the offer of double pay and double rations; the prospect of plunder and the ambition of achievement would draw the army into his measures. Mr. Burr talked of the establishment of an independent government west of the Alleghany as a matter of inherent, constitutional right of the people; a change which would eventually take place, and for the operation of which the present crisis was peculiarly favorable. There was, said he, no energy in the government to be dreaded, and the divisions of political opinions throughout the union was a circumstance of which we should profit. There were very many enterprising men among us who aspired to something beyond the dull pursuits of civil life and who would volunteer on this enterprize, and the vast territory belonging to the United States, which offered to adventurers, and the mines of Mexico would bring strength to his standard from all quarters. I listened to the exposition of colonel Burr's views with seeming acquiescence. Every interview convinced me more and more that he had organised a deep laid plot of treason in the west, in the accomplishment of which he felt fully confident. Till, at length, I discovered that his ambition was not bounded by the waters of the Mississippi and Mexico, but that he meditated overthrowing the present government of our country. He said, if he could gain over the marine corps, and secure the naval commanders, Truxton, Preble, Decatur, and others, he would turn congress neck and heels out of doors; assassinate the president; seize on the treasury and the navy, and declare himself the protector of an energetic government. The honorable trust of corrupting the marine corps, and of sounding commodore Preble and captain Decatur colonel Burr proposed confiding to me. Shocked at this proposition I dropped the mask, and exclaimed against his views. He talked of the degraded situation of our country, and the necessity of a BLOW by which its energy and its dignity should be restored—said, if that blow could be struck here at this time, he was confident of the support of the best blood of America. I told colonel Burr he deceived himself in presuming that he, or any other man could excite a party in this country who would countenance him in such a plot of desperation, murder and treason. He replied, that he, perhaps knew better the dispositions of the influential citizens of this country than I did. I told him, one solitary word would destroy him. He asked, what word? I answered, USURPER! He smiled at my hesitation, and quoted some great examples in his favor. I observed to him, that I had lately travelled from one extreme of the union to the other: and, though I found a diversity of political opinion among the people, they appeared united at the most distant aspect of national danger. That, for the section of the union to which I belonged, I would vouch, should he succeed in the first instance here, he would within six weeks afterward have his throat cut by Yankee militia.

Though wild and extravagant Mr. Burr's last project; and though fraught with premeditated slaughter, I felt very easy on the subject, because its defeat he had deposited in my own hands——I did not feel so secure concerning that of disjointing the union. But the very interesting and embarrassing situation in which his communication placed me, left me I confess at a stand to know how to conduct myself with propriety. He had committed no overt act of aggression against law. I could draw nothing from him in writing; nor could I learn that he had exposed his plans to any person near me by whom my testimony could be supported. He had mentioned to me no persons who were principally and decidedly engaged with him except general Wilkinson, a Mr. Alston, who I found was his son in law, and a Mr. Ephraim Kibby, late a captain of rangers in general Wayne's army. Satisfied that Mr. Burr was resolute in pushing his project of rebellion in the west of the Alleganies and apprehensive that it was too well and too extensively organized to be easily suppressed; though I dreaded the weight of his character when laid in the balance against my solitary assertion, I brought myself to the resolution to endeavor to defeat it by getting him removed from among us, or to expose myself to all consequences by a disclosure of his intentions. Accordingly I waited on the president of the United States; and after some desultory conversation in which I aimed to draw his view to the westward, I used the freedom to say to the president I thought Mr. Burr should be sent out of this country; and gave for reason, that I believed him dangerous in it. The president asked me where he should be sent? I mentioned London and Cadiz. The president thought the trust too important and seemed to entertain a doubt of Mr. Burr's integrity. I intimated that no one perhaps had stronger grounds to mistrust Mr. B's moral integrity than myself; yet I believed ambition so much predominant over him that when placed upon an eminence & put on his honor, respect to himself would ensure his fidelity: His talents were unquestionable. I perceived the subject was disagreeable to the president; and to give it the shortest course to the point, declared my concern that if Mr. Burr were not in some way disposed of, we should within eighteen months have an insurrection, if not a revolution on the waters of the Mississippi. The president answered that he had too much confidence in the information, the integrity and attachment to the union, of the citizens of that country to admit of an apprehension of the kind—I am happy that events prove this confidence well placed. As no interrogatories followed my expression of all rm I thought silence on the subject at that time & place became me.—— But I detailed about he same time, the whole projects of Mr Burr to certain members of Congress. They believed colonel Burr capable of any thing and agreed that the fellow ought to be hanged——but thought his projects too chimerical and his circumstances too desperate to give the subject the merit of serious consideration. The total security of feeling in those to whom I had wrung the tocsin induced me to suspect my own apprehensions unseasonable or at least too deeply admitted; and of course I grew indifferent about the subject.

Mr Burr's visits to me became less frequent, and his conversrtion less familiar. He appeared to have abandoned the idea of a general revolution; but seemed determined on that of the Mississippi, and although I could perceive symptoms of distrust in him towards me, he manifested a great solicitude to engage me with him in the enterprize. Weary of his importunity, and at once to convince him of my serious attachments I gave the following toast to the public:

The UNITED STATES——Palsey to the brain that should plot to dismember, and leprosy to the hand that will not draw to defend our Union!

I doubt whether the sentiment was better understood by any of my acquaintances that col. Burr. Our intercourse ended here, we met but seldom afterward. I returned to my farm in Massachusetts and thought no more of Mr. Burr nor his empire, till some time late in September or beginning of October, when a letter from Morris Belknap, of Marietta to Timothy E. Danielson, fell into my hands at Brimfield, which satisfied me that Mr. Burr had actually commenced his preparatory operations on the Ohio.——I now spoke publicly of the fact; transmitted a copy of the letter from Belknap to the department of state and about the same time forwarded through the hands of the post-master general to the president of the United States, a statement in substance, of what is here above detailed concerning the Mississippi conspiracy of the said col. Aaron Burr, which is said to have been the first formal intelligence received by the executive on the subject of the conspiracy being in motion.

I know not whether the country will allow me the merit of correctness of conduct in this affair. The novelty of the duty might have embarrassed stronger minds than mine The uprightness of my intentions I hope will not be questioned.

The interviews between col. Burr and myself, from which the foregoing statement has resulted, were chiefly in this city, in the months of February & March, last year.

Wm. EATON.

Washington city, Jan. 26, 1807.

Sworn in open court this 26th day of Jan. 1807.

Wm. BRENT, clk.

Deposition of JAMES L. DONALDSON.

In open court personally appears James Lowry Donaldson, who being duly sworn, deposeth and saith, that he was in the city of New Orleans, in the Orleans territory, and the environs of said city, from the 15th of October to the 10th day of Dec. 1806—that during the latter part of this time he was frequently in the company of general James Wilkinson, and visited the general the day after his arrival at New Orleans. On this occasion this deponent received in confidence from general Wilkinson information to the following purport: That the general had undoubted and indisputable evidence of a treasonable design formed by Aaron Burr and others to dismember the union, by a separation of the western states and territories from the Atlantic states—that New Orleans was in immediate danger, and that he had concluded a hasty compromise with the Spaniards, so as to be able to withdraw his troops instantly to this the immediate object of attack and great vulnerable point—That he had received a letter from Burr holding forth great inducements to him to become a party, of which he shewed me the original in cypher, and another written paper purporting to be a decyphered copy of the letter. He expressed great indignation at the plot, and surprize that one so well acquainted with him as Burr, should dare to make to him so degrading a proposal, and declared his determination of defeating the enterprize, or perishing in the attempt. He observed in addition that there were many agents of Mr. Burr then in the town, who had already been assiduous in their visits, and towards whom he was determined to act with cautious ambiguity, so as at the same time to become possessed of the whole extent of the plan, the persons engaged, and the time of its execution, and also to prevent any attempt on his person, of which he declared he had serious apprehensions. Of the number of these agents he was not aware, but mentioned the name of two of whom he was certain, Messrs. Bollman and Alexander. From time to time, as this deponent had interviews with general Wilkinson, he informed this deponent that he had received additional information respecting the movements and designs of Burr by means of these agents, of whom he considered Bollman as the principal. In the course of these transactions, this deponent was employed by general Wilkinson in the copying of certain papers and documents, and preparing certain dispatches for the general government, which the general intended to forward by the brig Theris. While thus employed at the general's lodgings, this deponent has remarked upon two different occasions, a person knock for admittance at a door with a window in it opposite the table where this deponent was sitting, who this deponent was informed by gen. Wilkinson was Dr. Bollman. Upon these occasions the general has suddenly risen from his seat and accompanied this person in a number of turns up and down a balcony in the front of the house, apparently engaged in deep conversation. Upon the latter of these occasions the general on his return into the chamber said to this deponent "that is Dr. Bollman, his infatuation is truly extraordinary, he persists in his belief that I am with Burr, and has this moment shewn me a letter from the latter, in which he says that he is to be at Natchez on the 20th December with two thousand men, that 4000 will follow in the course of a few days, and that he could with the same ease have procured double that number." General Wilkinson then observed that he had obtained all the information he wanted, and that the affair would not be kept much longer a secret from the public.

When this deponent left the city of New Orleans, the inhabitants of that city were in a state of great alarm and apprehended a serious attack from Mr. Burr and his confederates, this deponent understood that mercantile business was much embarrassed and great fears were entertained of considerable commercial failures in consequense of the embargo which had been imposed—that general Wilkinson was taking strong measures of defence, and that four hundred persons were then actually engaged in the fortifications of the city.

And further this deponent saith not.

JAS. L. DONALDSON.

WM. BRENT, Clerk.

Jan. 26, 1807.

Deposition of Lieut. W. WILSON.

I left New Orleans on my way to this city on the 15th of December last: at that time, and for some time preceding, the strongest apprehensions and belief universally prevailed among the inhabitants of that city, that Aaron Burr and his confederates had prepared an armed force, and were advancing to attack and plunder the city; in consequence of which the greatest alarms prevailed, a general stagnation of business ensued, and the danger was credited there as matter of public notoriety: That brigadier general Wilkinson with the army of the U. S. was at New Orleans, occupied in the most active military preparations for the defence of the place; repairing the forts, mounting cannon, collecting ammunition, &c.—All under the firm persuasion and belief that such an attack was meditated, and about very speedily to take place, by the said Burr and his confederates, this deponent knows that the general was decidedly of opinion, from the most satisfactory information, that the said Burr and his confederates were advancing with an armed force against the place: and further this deponent saith not.

Sigaed,

WM. WILSON.

Sworn to in open court this 27th day of Jan. 1807.

WM. BRENT, Clk.

The deposition of Ensign W C. MEAD is precisely similar to that of lieut. Wilson, except that the former states that he left New Orleans on the 19th of December.

The following Message, containing a further developement of the Conspiracy, was communicated to the two houses of Congress on Monday.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the U. States.

I received from general Wilkinson, on the 23d inst. his affidavit charging Samuel Swartwout, Peter V. Ogden, and James Alexander, with the crimes described in the affidavit, a copy of which is now communicated to both houses of congress.

It was announced to me at the same time, that Swartwout and Bollman, two of the persons apprehended by him, were arrived in this city, in custody each of a military officer. I immediately delivered to the attorney of the U. S. in this district, the evidence received against them, with instructions to lay the same before the judges, and apply for their process to bring the accused to justice; and I put into his hands orders to the officers having them in custody, to deliver them to the marshal on his application.

TH: JEFFERSON.

Jan. 26, 1807.

I, James Wilkinson, brigadier general and commander in chief of the army of the U. S. to warrant the arrest of Samuel Swartwout, James Alexander, esq. and Peter V. Ogden, on a charge of treason, misprison of treason, or such other offence against the government and laws of the U. S. as the following facts may legally charge them with, on the honor of a soldier, and on the holy Evangelists of Almighty God—do declare and swear, that in the beginning of the month of October last, when in command at Natchitoches, a stranger was introduced to me by colonel Cushing, by the name of Swartwout, who a few minutes after the colonel retired from the room slipt into my hand a letter of formal introduction from colonel Burr, of which the following is a correct copy.

Philadelphia, 26th July, 1806.

DEAR SIR,

Mr. Swartwout, the brother of colonel S. of New York, being on his way down the Mississippi, and presuming that he may pass you at some post on the river, has requested of me a letter of introduction, which I give with pleasure, as he is a most amiable young man, and highly respectable from his character and connections. I pray you to afford him any friendly offices which his situation may require, and beg you to pardon the trouble which this may give you.

With entire respect,

Your friend and obedient servant,

A. BURR.

general Wilkinson.

Together with a packet which he informed me he was charged by the same person to deliver me in private. This packet contained a letter in cypher from colonel Burr, of which the following is substantially as fair an interpretation as I have heretofore been able to make, the original of which I hold in my possession.

"I (Aaron Burr) have obtained funds and have actually commenced the enterprize——detachments from different points and under different pretences will rendezvous on the Ohio 1st November—every thing internal and external favors views—protection of England is secured——T—— is gone to Jamaica to arrange with the admiral on that station; it will meet on the Mississippi——England——navy of the United States are ready to join and final orders are given to my friends and followers; it will be an host of choice spirits—Wilkinson shall be second to Burr only—Wilkinson shall dictate the rank and promotion of his officers—Burr will proceed westward 1st August—never to return—with him go his daughter—the husband will follow in October with a corps of worthies—send forth——with an intelligent and confidential friend with whom Burr may confer. He shall return immediately with further interesting details—this is essential to concert and harmony of movement. Send a list of all persons known to Willkinson west of the mountains, who may be useful, with a note delineating their characters. By your messenger send me 4 or 5 of the commissions of your officers which you can borrow under any pretence you please—they shall be returned faithfully—already are orders to the contractor given to forward six months provisions to points Wilkinson may name; this shall not be used until the last moment, and then under proper injunctions—the project is brought to the point so long desired—Burr guarantees the result with his life and honor—with the lives, the honor and fortunes of hundreds, the best blood of our country—Burr's plan of operations is to move down rapidly from the falls on the 15th of November with the first 500 or 1000 men in light boats now constructing for that purpose—to be at Natchez between the 5th and 15th of December—there to meet Wilkinson; there to determine whether it will be expedient in the first instance to seize on or pass by Baton Rouge—on receipt of this send Burr an answer—draw on Burr for all expences. &c. The people of the country to which we are going are prepared to receive us—their agents now with Burr say that if we will protect their religion and will not subject them to a foreign power, that in three weeks all will be settled. The Gods invite to glory and fortune—it remains to be seen whether we deserve the boon. The bearer of this goes express to you—he will hand a formal letter of introduction to you from Burr, he is a man of inviolable honor and perfect discretion; formed to execute rather than to project; capable of relating facts with fidelity and incapable of relating them otherwise. He is thoroughly informed of the plans and intentions of ————, and will disclose to you as far as you enquire and no farther—he has imbibed a reverence for your character and may be embarrassed in your presence—put him at ease and he will satisfy you—29th July."

I instantly resolved to avail myself of the reference made to the bearer and in the course of a few days drew from him (he said Swartout,) the following disclosure. "That he had been dispatched by colonel Burr from Philadelphia, had passed through the states of Ohio and Kentucky, & proceeded from Louisville for St. Louis where he expected to find me, but discovering at Kaskaskias that I had descended the river, he procured a skiff and hired hands, and followed me down the Mississippi to Fort Adams and from thence set out for Natchitoches, in company with captains Sparks and Hooke, under the pretence of a disposition to take part in the campaign against the Spaniards then depending. That col. Burr with the support of a powerful association extending from New York to New Orleans, was levying an armed body of seven thousand men from the state of New York and the western states and territories, with a view to carry an expedition against the Mexican provinces, and that five hundred men under col. Swartout, & a col. or maj. Tyler were to descend the Allegany for whose accomodation light boats were built and were ready." I enquired what would be their course. He said, "This territory would be revolutionized, were the people ready to join them and that there would be some seizing he supposed at N. Orleans; that they expected to be ready to embark about the 1st of February and intended to land at Vera Cruz, and to march from thence to Mexico." I observed that there were several million of dollars in the bank of this place, to which he replied 'we know it full well,' and on my remarking that they certainly did not mean to violate private property, he said, 'they merely meant to borrow and would return it; that they must equip themselves in New Orleans, that they expected naval protection from Great Britain; that the capt.—— and officers of our navy were so disgusted with the government that they were ready to join; that similar disgust prevailed throughout the western country where the people where zealous in favor of the enterprize, and that pilot boat built schooners were contracted for along our southern coast for their service; that he had been accompanied from the falls of Ohio to Kaskaskias, and from thence to Fort Adams by a Mr. Ogden, who had proceeded on to New Orleans with letters from Col. Burr, to his friends there."—— Swartout asked me whether I had heard from Dr. Bollman, and on my answering in the negative he expressed great surprise and observed, "That the doctor and a Mr. Alexander had left Philadelphia before him with dispatches for me and that they were to proceed by sea to N. Orleans where he said they must have arrived."

Though determined to deceive him if possible, I could not refrain telling Mr. Swartwout it was impossible I could ever dishonor my commission; and I believe I duped him by my admiration of the plan, and by observing "That although I could not join in the expedition, the engagements which the Spaniards had prepared for me in my front, might prevent my opposing it." Yet I did, the moment I had decyphered the letter, put it into the hands of col. Cushing, my adjutant and inspector, making the declaration that I should oppose the lawless enterprize with my utmost force. Mr. Swartwout informed me he was under engagements to meet col. Burr at Nashville the 20th of Nov. and requested of me to write him, which I declined, and on his leaving Natchitoches about the 18th of Oct I immediately employed lieut T. A. Smith to convey the information in substance to the president, without the commitment of names, for from the extraordinary nature of the project, and the more extraordinary appeal to me, I could but doubt its reality, notwithstanding the testimony before me, and I did not attach solid belief to Mr. Swartwout's reports respecting their intentions on this territory and city, until I received confirmatory advice from St. Louis.

After my return from the Sabine, I crossed the country to Natchez and on my descent of the Mississippi from that place I found Swartwout and Peter V. Ogden at Fort Adams; with the latter I held no communication, but was informed by Swartwout, that he, Ogden, had returned so far from New-Orleans on his route to Tennessee, but had been so much alarmed by certain reports in circulation that he was afraid to proceed. I enquired whether he bore letters with him from New Orleans, and was informed by Swartwout that he did not, but that a Mr. Spence had been sent from New Orleans through the country to Nashville with letters for Colonel Burr.

I reached this city the 24th ultimo, and on the next morning James Alexander, esquire, visited me—he enquired of me, aside, whether I had seen doctor Bollman, and on my answering in the negative, he aked me whether I would suffer him to conduct Bollman to me, which I refused. He appeared desirous to communicate something, but I felt no inclination to inculpate this young man, and he left me. A few days after he paid me a second visit and seemed desirous to communicate, which I avoided until he had risen to take leave, I then raised my finger, and observed, "take care, you are playing a dangerous game"—he answered, "it will succeed"—I again observed, "take care"—and he replied with a strong affirmation, "Burr will be here by the beginning of next month."—In addition to these corroborating circumstances, against Alexander, I beg leave to refer to the accompanying documents A. and B.—From all which I feel no hesitation in declaring, under the solemn obligation of an oath, that I do believe the said Swartwout, Alexander and Ogden, have been parties to and have been concerned in the insurrection formed or forming in the states and territorities on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, against the laws and constitution of the United States.

Signed,

JAMES WILKINSON.

Justice of the peace for the county of Orleans.

Alexandria Daily Advertiser.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30.

We understand the Senate have postponed the bill for erecting a Bridge across the Potomac—17 to 16, till the next session.

Extract of a letter dated New Orleans, Dec 24.

"This place is at present agitated with the greatest apprehension, from the daily expected descent of Burr and his army from the western country; every thing here has assumed a military appearance. Business is entirely suspended.

"Our only prospect of salvation is the faint hope that Burr will be arrested in the western country before he sets out, as we have no means of opposing him here."

☞ The citizens of Alexandria are hereby informed that Mr. William Gurley, present Pastor of the Christian Church, in this place, will preach in the Christian meeting-house, on Fairfax-street, [late the old Methodist meeting-house] on Sunday next, at the ringing of the Presbyterians' bell, both forenoon and afternoon.

As the house has been completely repaired so as to commodiously accommodate a congregation, and a large and excellent stove placed near the center of it, it is presumed that none will forbear to attend either for fear of taking cold or setting uncomfortably in time of divine service.

January 27.

☞ The next Assembly will be on TUESDAY EVENING, the third of next month.

NOTICE

TO CAUTION the public against trespassing on our enclosures adjoining and contiguous to Cameron Mills, with dogs, guns, or otherwise. The late destruction to the winter grain and hedging by such thoughtless mischievous conduct already has been very injurious, done generally by those passing back and forward to Alexandria, preferring such mischief to a better track through open fields, which is less surprising in thoughtless slaves than the free inhabitants who may expect hereafter to be treated as the law points out in such cases. They are further noticed to be aware of such conduct after night, when proof can be seldom ascertained—we have therefore prepared armed men with fierce dogs to worry and cripple all such unseasonable intruders, more especially when detected on the hedge rows. Licence will be granted to enter the premises near the bridge over the row, where steps will be erected for the protection of the thorns; this is not to be considered as a thoroughfare, but only for the use and convenience of those with actual business at the mills. We are well satisfied by late experience of the necessity to adopt these rigorous methods, otherwise abandon the hedges, at a certain loss of the expence and trouble already expended. The premises must not be entered only at the place pointed out, on any pretence whatever.

VALUABLE LANDS,

To be Sold very Cheap.

I WISH to sell my Mill Tract of Land, situate on Back-Lick and Indian-Runs, about six miles from the town of Alexandria; containing about eleven hundred acres. On this tract are two plantations besides the mill farm—on the latter there is a very good mill, in which are one pair of burr, and one pair of cullen stones, with elevators, &c. complete for merchant work—a distillery convenient to the mill, with four stills and every necessary utensil in complete order—a dwelling-house, kitchen, barn, with stables under it to accommodate 20 stalls, with every other out house requisite on a farm—a very good garden, an orchard of about 2500 trees of the choicest fruits this country can afford. There is about 300 or 400 acres of the tract cleared, the remainder in woods and a great part of it heavily timbered; about 30 or 40 acres of meadow, and nearly 300 acres more may be made on the bottoms adjoining the two runs.

ALSO,

One other tract of one hundred acres, about two miles from Alexandria, part of the Cliesh Tract, and adjoining the lands of Messieurs John C. Herbert, Robert Patton, and John Richter, the Mount-Vernon road running through it. This tract is mostly in woods, and conveniently situated for country seats. If these lands should be sold at private sale, (which I would prefer) I will take in payment, if more convenient to the purchasers, stock of any of the banks from Richmond to New-York, or any kind of stock of the United States.

If they are not sold before Friday the first day of May next, the Mill Tract will, on that day, be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder—and on the following day the Cliesh Lands will be sold in like manner. The Mill Tract will be divided into three or four farms and sold subject to a lease of four and an half years from the first day of July last. The Cleish Tract will be divided into lots of 10 or 20 acres each. If sold at public auction the terms will be made known on the days of sale.
